

Financial Champion

This role will be an integral part of helping BDB develop into a more financially self-sustainable business. The ideal candidate would preferably have previous financial experience, whether that be in small or large businesses. They will have an ability to work creatively to maximise financial gains whilst sticking to our ethos and keeping the community's needs at our core. Our Financial Champion will be essential to the future and growth of BDB.

Tasks and responsibilities

Assist BDB with finding and writing applicable funding bids.

- Minimum of three funding bids completed on BDB's behalf within the six months.
- Research into new funding opportunities and filtering those that BDB qualifies for.

Plan development and targets for the next 12 months.

- Create plans of action for short and long term financial targets.
- Study figures and reflect on current finances with constructive feedback and research.
- Implement plans and creative solutions off the back of that research.
- Develop and promote all types of donations. How can we maximise and market this in line with our ethos?
- Market information to those who donate and borrow, showing how their money or items have helped others/local community/environment/carbon footprint/money saved.

Research and planning into new routes of funding and income avenues.

- Look at statistics and market research, applying it to BDB.
- Research how other libraries of things access funding and use those findings to expand our opportunities.
- Research and apply for Government and Council funds with regards to environmental targets.

Borrow-it-forward financial plan.

- Plan how it will work financially, execution, and make it accessible for those who need it.
- Figures and proof of how to cover these costs and surveillance of how it is going.
